Ebenezer Baptist Church.

The Sabbath school was well attended. We all enjoyed the solo by the young man from Bethesda.

Rev. Thomas preached as he always does, there being fourteen young men and women coming up to be prayed for. There were two additions to the church.

The Young Men's Literary club was well-attended. Detectives Jones and Starks made some very interesting remarks, as did also a young man from Turkey who is here taking a missionary training. Come out to the literary club for it doth not yet appear what it shall be.

We are preparing to have a grand week's rally the week preceding the third Sunday for the church building fund. Every night free except banquet night, which will be Saturday night, Oct. 19. Program each night.

The united auxiliaries of the church will have a joint entertainment Wednesday, Oct. 16. Come out, for it will be a rare treat. No admission. Good music and speaking.

The services at our church on last Sunday were well attended and the usual spiritual interest was evident. The offerings were up to their usual standard. All of the captains working in the rally are evincing great interest; at the roll call last Monday night nearly all of them reported progress.

Sunday the services will be as usual except the omission of the Holy Communion which will be celebrated at our first quarterly meeting on the 13th. In the afternoon Rev. Robinson of St. Marks M. Mrs. C. J. Jackson is arranging for a very unique entertainment which will take place on Tuesday the 8th, known as the "Living Pictures." The millionaire wedding, for which cards of admission are in circulation will take place on the 15th bids fair to be a great success.

Grace Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Blair, the organist, has resigned. She has been most faithful in her service and will be sorely missed. Sunday was Rally day in the Sunday school, which was addressed in a most interesting manner by Prince Mohamet Zullman, an East Indian exile, who has been naturalized and intends returned to his own country as a missionary. Prince Zullman told of the strange customs and practices in his country and contrasted them with ours, many of which seemed equally as strange to him.

The sermon Sunday morning was ably preached by a visiting Presbyterian minister, Rev. J. W. Botts.

The Teacher Training Class, in charge of Mr. Stuart D. Fowler, will meet from 12 to 12:30 every Sunday at the church. Miss Cora Willis will have charge of the home department.

Quinn Chapel A. M. E. Church.

A large congregation was present on Sunday morning to greet the pastor on his return from conference. The services maintained their usual high order. Dr. Cook preached a strong sermon from the text, "Be hold how good and pleasant a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." The music by the choir was up to its usual standard. At 2 p. m. the Sunday school was largely attended. The music under Mr. Augustus is rapidly becoming a feature of the Sunday school. At 6:30 the Christian Endeavor held a wide-awake meeting. This department of the church is growing in numbers and activities. At 8 p. m. Rev. J. C. Clark of Texas occupied the pulpit. Rev. Clarke was formerly a member of Quinn Chapel and preached his trial sermon in this church.

Dr. Cook was warmly welcomed upon his return from conference by his many members and friends. Miss Annabelle Overton and Norflett Chilton were united in marriage by the pastor. Mrs. Maude Smith, a faithful member of Quinn Chapel, died in Michigan last Friday and was buried last Monday from the Western Casket Co. Bishop B. F. Lee, presiding bishop of the fourth Episcopal district, will preach at the morning service tomorrow Sunday.
