

Baha'i Lecturer Feted by Friends

*The Chicago Defender (National edition) (1921-1967); Jan 27, 1934; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: Chicago Defender
pg. 3*

Baha'i Lecturer Feted by Friends

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season was the surprise Mrs. E. L. Moffett, 1360 Magnolia St., was tendered last week when more than 50 white and Colored friends came in on her for an "evening at home."

Mrs. Moffett, a Baha'i lecturer, was entertaining friends who just recently returned from touring Europe, when Miss Cora Willis, followed by the 34 or more, came in. Miss Willis, who was mistress, had arranged a delightful program, and after these numbers, the time was consumed in reminiscence.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.