

22) Native to This Soil

Mea culpa, no other or institution is accountable for this student work. DNA as genetic Medium has limited probability. A hawk as spirit Medium is less limited.

My object is none other than the betterment of the world and the tranquillity of its peoples. The well-being of mankind, its peace and security, are unattainable unless and until its unity is firmly established. This unity can never be achieved so long as the counsels which the Pen of the Most High hath revealed are suffered to pass unheeded. ~Bahá'u'lláh.

Sitting with a young man who skin was rich, hair dark to brown, He looked and said "I am native." Requested that he feel the flesh on this elderly arm. And stating this native was born to this old soil and has known no other. It is native soil. When traveling, this soils travels well. Always home. All the souls on this great sphere the same. No real boundaries between the lands of earth. All one people, all native. No matter where we go, any where upon this sphere, we are associated to the soil we were born to associated with. Native of Earth from birth and for eternity.

When mother passed, at the reception her sister said we were native from an intercourse on the outer banks of North Carolina centuries earlier. Just listening, not asking. Then two years later, visiting with father's sister, Eunis, a spontaneous statement came forward that we are native. We are Cherokee. This lead to inquiry, why now tell the history so late in years. "Honey, if we tell the children, in innocence, they tell all and will not be treated fairly." Listen to the elders, they are us. Their wisdom transcends time.

My dear Aunt K did not realize that we, the Native Americans, had been set free when the eagle landed on the moon as was prophesied.

So says this soul, before it is too late. We are all native, for all lands, and all time not just seven generations back or seven years forward.

There is a Cherokee tradition and a tradition of indigenous people all over the world. That our deeds will affect seven generations before us, and effect seven generations after us. With the principles of Lamarckian Evolution, epigenetic information transfer that was demonstrated by the studies of dingoes in Australia, we can see how our deeds carry forward information to effect the generations after us. The question is how will our deeds affect the generations that came before us? When they examine our deeds and our lives, they see in us echos and evidences of their victories that they won. Their struggles to be become better people carried forward down the generations. We in turn, in time, manifest in our lives their choices. They see the fruits of their efforts in ways that they could not see then. They are grateful as are we.

DNA tests tell the story for seven generations. Then what genes are is destined, not by mere probability.
1st gen. 46 chromosomes
2nd gen. 23 ch.
3rd gen. 12* ch.
4th gen. 6 ch.
5th gen 3 ch.
6th gen 2* ch.
7th gen 1 ch.
8th gen. Zero probability any 1st generation chromosome remains in pool. 100% probability 1st generation is diluted to gone.
*Technically 11.5 but there is no 1/2 chromosomes transferrable

By truth your descendants are who they are, with your DNA or none. Your deeds bear the same lineage. Whether your words prior were spoken by you as to what your deeds need be or not. Whether it was known what must be done or was not known. Your deeds bear your heritage.

So the next time you're driving down an old dirt road, and a Hawk lands in the middle of the road turns and stares straight at you with no carcass or natural reason to land and then flies off with purpose. Later that afternoon on another road well paved, a second Hawk lands, turns, and stares straight at you with clear purpose to see you and then flies away. It is good to understand that the Creator gives you personal messages. Whether you can decode them will depend on your relationship to the Creator, to meaning, and to purpose. The first hawk Trust God. The second hawk Fear God. The two natural birds of spirit take us to the highest places.

Exploring the thoughts of William of Ockham and David Hume, the idea of causation is examined. Oddly, as the razor legend implies, do we not add entities to entities as we split with the sword of reason. The Cause of God is God, the very idea of God as Cause. As a young man, examining the phrase cause of God, it was thought the cause of God was the phenomenon and association of what would enable the teaching of the Manifestation to become available and well known to humanity. After studying Physics, nature and philosophy it becomes apparent that the Cause of God, is exactly what it is, the Cause of all things, the Cause of all events. Did Hume grasp his words "Causation: The Very Idea"? Hand shake to him.

To obey the Primal Will, to hear Principle Purpose, to feel the Absolute Possibility, to reason understanding the Ultimate Meaning, await the Specific Time, exist in Infinite Space and see a Unique Particular Creation. The First Cause has permitted. All praise be to The God.

Heaven is awareness of God. Hell is unawareness of God. ~The Báb

Since your Creator is speaking to you personally to train you, it's necessary that you have the key for decoding the messages. So the key is recognition of the Manifestation. Without this knowledge, the meanings that Life is transmitting to you are not easily decodable. If a student does not recognize that the teacher who is teaching that student personally, then that student will not understand the relevancy of the knowledge being given. Kamran Sadiq points out that there are two aspects for the validity of an analogy. One is the faithfulness that the analogy possesses the correspondent characteristics, accurate mapping, as a vehicle of the tenor. The other important feature is that it has relevancy. They have relevancy in that Life is teaching you. You must recognize that Life is teaching you personally, otherwise what It teaches will appear irrelevant.

There is an observation that the greatest works of physicists, who have gone before, produced their insights, the great achievements, when they were young. So there was conclusion reached that because of the coincidence of the cessation of production of great new ideas from the individual, and the passing of time that there was a cause of effect. This is mistaken. What occurred is that when a great young mind, looks into the world and sees relationships, and then conveys what is seen to others That person becomes known. And when a person becomes known those who wish to interact with the person increased to such a degree that that person is no longer able to sit back and examine and wonder about the Deeper Meaning of things in life. So the great achievements of thinkers throughout history was not because they were young, it is because they were unknown and they were able to acquire knowledge, because they had the time given by the Creator. So this student perceives that there was a binary choice provided: to know or to be known. This is reality. publishing these thoughts would necessitate that the acquisition of understanding and knowledge would come to a relative end. So, if one loves knowledge, then the consequence of sharing that knowledge brings an end for new knowledge unless God so wills otherwise.
